RE: Women's G-League Flexible Pathway
Approved by Technical, Women's, and Competition Committee Chairs

The Technical, Women's, and Competition Committee Chairpersons have met to address a formal written letter to the GFA Women's Committee and General Secretary for consideration of allowing female players below age sixteen (16) to join the 2024 Women's G-League season.

With the collaboration effort, the Technical Director, Ross Awa, has developed a "Flexible Pathway" to enable potential elite female athletes to play at the senior football level. This Flexible Pathway is a process which will enable assessments of the said players via the Club key stakeholders and the GFA Technical department.

While the Women's Committee will continue to do their internal analysis and discussion regarding the minimum age requirement for the Women's G-League, this method is allowed for those who should be placed in higher-level competition.

The procedures have just been made available and will be made available on the GFA Website.

Should you need guidance, please email the Technical Director, Ross Awa, at ross.awa@theguamfa.com.

Regards,

Joseph Cepeda
General Secretary
